now I've updated my
theme to work for Windows 7 Ultimate Edition. (Well, I do have it installed already, just in case you were curious.) The sea is now green and the sky is now blue, while the water still has the same beige shade. And I've updated the folders to appear with the right colors when you hover over them. And as for what's new, I've updated the start menu. This time, I did all the coding in

C#, and I added a folder view option and some more tweaks. I've also added a new theme, called Speedy. I know the name
