time one of the sharks hypnotizes him with ultrasound and he ceases to understand who he is, what he does and why. with the shark, trying to stop it, but April has almost no clothes to hide in, and he becomes the animal's prey. Fin and Dr. Shepard try to save April from the shark, but all their attempts are in vain. They are forced to use hand-held flashlights, Finn soon realizes that it is not a shark, but a creature called a humanoid. The Doctor tries to save April, but then he realizes the danger he is in and decides to actually prove how close they are. walks to the middle of the room, where there is a huge glass tank of water in which April rushes about. The Doctor screams, and the shark tries to attack April, but fear falls into a state of passion and begins to behave inappropriately, crashing into the wall and breaking it. April opens her eyes and says something like: "Don't come near me!". However, the Doctor, seeing no other way out before him, rushes into the water and tries to save his partner. He repels the shark from April, but she does not kill the guy himself, but makes him come to his senses. Fin tells him about himself, and he understands who Fin is. Sounds resembling human voices are heard from the speaker mounted on the wall. The sharks start attacking themselves and each other, accidentally attacking people. April appears and tells Fin and the Doctor about his childhood fears. As a child, he was visited by fantasies that he had several doubles that are on every planet in the universe. One day, April got one of them. He was his friend. But one day he left April alone and he saw a cartoon about Johnny Mnemonic.
April pleaded that he was only on Earth because of Johnny, who replaced him with himself in the subconscious. As a result, April saw pictures of Johnny and after seeing the
